

Dr. Gerard Slobogean

Dr. Slobogean is Associate Professor and Director of Clinical Research in the Department of Orthopaedics, University of Maryland School of Medicine. His clinical practice at R Adams Cowley Shock Trauma Center includes fracture management of complex extremity injuries and upper extremity reconstruction. Dr. Slobogean's research interests focus on multi-center clinical trials. He currently serves on several international clinical trial committees and frequently lectures on research methods, clinical trial design, and the practice of Evidence-Based Orthopaedics.