

Wojciech Szczeklik, PD, PhD

Professor of Medicine
Head of the Intensive Care and Perioperative Medicine Division in Department of Medicine
Jagiellonian University Medical College, Kraków, Poland

Assistant Clinical Professor
McMaster University, Hamilton, Canada

Dr. Wojciech Szczeklik received his Doctor of Medicine degree from Jagiellonian University Medical College. After medical school he completed residency in Internal Medicine, Immune diseases and Anesthesiology with Critical Care, and received PhD at Jagiellonian University Medical College. His foreign clinical and research experience include University College in London, Harvard University, University of Cambridge and McMaster University.

The focus of his research are perioperative complications in noncardiac surgery, critical care, and autoimmune diseases. Dr. Szczeklik has published more than 140 peer-reviewed publications, and authored more than 40 book chapters. He received several awards as a researcher and as a teacher, including being selected by students' organization as best academic teacher in Poland in 2016.

Dr. Wojciech Szczeklik currently holds a position of Professor and Head of Intensive Care and Perioperative Medicine Department at the Jagiellonian University Medical College and Assistant Clinical Professor at McMaster University, Hamilton, Canada.