

Dr. Haider is Professor Medicine Department of Medicine, McMaster University. He is an Infectious Diseases and Internal Medicine Consultant at Hamilton Health Sciences. He is the Past Program Director for McMaster Internal Medicine Residency Program. He is a surveyor for postgraduate training for the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada, for both Canadian and International Programs.

He has been involved in Infectious Diseases and HIV care for the past 20 years, and is the Current Medical Director of HIV care in Hamilton and the Program Director of Clinical HIV Fellowship year of training. He is the Research Lead of the Transplant/Malignant Infectious Diseases Service at the Juravinski Hospital and Cancer Center. His research interests are focused on Infections in Immunocompromised Hosts, with a focus on Hepatitis C, HIV, and Cancer Patients. He is a member of the Board of Directors for CAHR (Canadian Association for HIV Research) and President of CFID (Canadian Foundation of Infectious Diseases).

